“Nowhere else in the world are so few students given the opportunity of studying and working with so many ‘stars’ in the field together in the same Ph.D. program in Applied Linguistics.”

DIRECTOR
JULIANE HOUSE

FACULTY
VLAY BHAHIA
JAN BLOOMAERT
FRANCESCA BARQELA
GABRIELE KASPER
CLAIRES KRAMSCH
DIANE LARTEST-FREEMAN
JEREMY MUNDAY
LOURDES ORTEGA
MIRIM PURUPUR
ROSINA MARQUERDE REITER
PHILIP SCHOLFIELD
RUTH WODAK

Contact details:
Hellennic American University
52 Concord Street,
Manchester, NH 03101,
Tel: +1 603 645 1800,
E-mail: info@hauniv.edu
Web: www.hauniv.edu

Hellennic American College
22 Massalias Street, 10680 Athens,
Tel: +30 210 3680950,
Fax: +30 210 3680073,
E-mail: info@haec.gr
Web: www.haec.gr

Connect with us:
https://www.facebook.com/HellenicAmericanCollege
https://twitter.com/HAEC2
www.linkedin.com/company/hellenic-american-college

Hellenic American University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, physical disability or veteran status in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic or other school-administered programs.
The Ph.D. in Applied Linguistics at Hellenic American University is an exciting, innovative program featuring intensive one- to two-week residential courses as well as extensive one-to-one online contact with the faculty.

A discourse-focused program of advanced study in Applied Linguistics taught by an extraordinary team of renowned scholars

A Broad Perspective on Language

The program features eight core courses on topics such as Research Methodology, Discourse Analysis, Critical Applied Linguistics, Socio-Cultural Theory in Language Learning, and Communication across Cultures.

Building on the common foundation of these courses, students can then specialize in areas such as Second Language Education, Discourse Analysis, Intercultural and Professional Communication, and Translation and Interpreting. Since both core courses and discipline-specific strands are all firmly research and discourse-focused, there is also an opportunity for creative and constructive interaction between strands. In this way graduates gain a much broader perspective on language in use than their own area of specialization allows them.

The diversity of students’ professional backgrounds greatly contributes to a rich and engaging learning environment.

Graduates can reasonably expect to become leaders in any field that requires sophisticated language and communication specialists to address real-world communication challenges.

Sophisticated communication specialists with deep knowledge of how language functions are increasingly in demand in nearly all professional fields. Graduates are equipped to compete successfully for key positions in universities, research institutes, businesses, national organizations, the diplomatic corps, NGOs, and global media. Applied Linguists at this level of expertise will look in particular for careers as high-ranking government officials, including diplomats, as policy advisors and consultants in educational agencies as corporate communication specialists and executive trainers, as editors and publishing consultants, as curriculum supervisors, evaluators, and assessors of language and communication competence, as senior academic staff in research centers, or as directors of translation and interpreting divisions in supranational organizations.

A Highly Flexible Program

Students who already work can continue doing so while being enrolled in this program. They are encouraged to draw upon their work experience to highlight issues of professional practice in their coursework, and conversely to apply insights newly gained in the Ph.D. program to challenges they face in their work. Students’ work experience may include professional fields such as second language education, translation and interpreting, law, business, political science, diplomacy, linguistics, and other areas in which language and communication is of prime importance.

Over a part-time study period of four to five years, students complete eleven one- to two-week residencies in Athens for courses, on-site supervision and tutorial support, and complete seven project works, two or three yearly papers, and the supervised doctoral thesis. Admission requirements include a Master’s degree from a university of recognized standing in any of the fields mentioned above.

Applications

Hellenic American University welcomes applications from candidates from diverse academic and professional backgrounds.

If you are interested in applying for admission to the Ph.D. Program please contact the Program Coordinator of the Ph.D. program Dr. Themis Kaniklidou (+30 210 368 0072, phdal@hauniv.edu) for further information on the program and the application process. You can also arrange a time to speak with the Director of the Program and meet with current students.

Degree Programs Offered by Hellenic American University:

- Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature
- Bachelor of Science in Business Administration
- Bachelor of Science in Engineering
- Bachelor of Science in Information Technology
- Bachelor of Science in Psychology
- Bachelor of Music
- Master of Arts in Conference Interpreting
- Master of Arts in Translation
- Master of Business Administration
- Master of Science in Information Technology
- Master of Science in Psychology
- Master of Science in Engineering
- Bachelor of Science in Business Administration
- Bachelor of Science in Information Technology
- Bachelor of Science in Psychology
- Associate of Science in General Engineering
The Ph.D. in Applied Linguistics at Hellenic American University is an exciting, innovative program featuring intensive one-to-two week residential courses as well as extensive one-to-one online contact with the faculty.

A Broad Perspective on Language

The program features eight core courses on topics such as Research Methodology, Discourse Analysis, Critical Applied Linguistics, Socio-Cultural Theory in Language Learning, and Communication Across Cultures. Building on the common foundation of these courses, students can then specialize in areas such as Second Language Education, Discourse Analysis, Intercultural and Professional Communication, and Translation and Interpreting. Since both core courses and discipline-specific strands are all firmly research and discourse-focused, there is also an opportunity for creative and constructive interaction between strands. In this way graduates gain a much broader perspective on language in use than their own area of specialization allows them.

A Highly Flexible Program

Students who already work can continue doing so while being enrolled in this program. They are encouraged to draw upon their work experience to highlight issues of professional practice in their coursework, and conversely to apply insights newly gained in the Ph.D. program to challenges they face in their work. Students' work experience may include professional fields such as second language education, translation and interpreting, law, business, political science, diplomacy, linguistics, and other areas in which language and communication are of prime importance. Over a part-time study period of four to five years, students complete eleven one- or two-week residencies in Athens, seven projects papers, two qualifying papers and the supervised doctoral thesis. Admission requirements include a Master's degree from a university of recognized standing in any of the fields mentioned above. The Ph.D. program to challenges they face in their work. Students' work experience may include professional fields such as second language education, translation and interpreting, law, business, political science, diplomacy, linguistics, and other areas in which language and communication is of prime importance. Over a part-time study period of four to five years, students complete eleven one- or two-week residencies in Athens, seven project papers, two qualifying papers and the supervised doctoral thesis. Admission requirements include a Master's degree from a university of recognized standing in any of the fields mentioned above.

All courses are research-focused. Students are fully engaged in their applied projects throughout their studies.

Applications

Hellenic American University welcomes applications from candidates from diverse academic and professional backgrounds. If you are interested in applying for admission to the Ph.D. Program, please contact the Program Coordinator of the Ph.D. program Dr. Themis Kaniklidou (+30 210 368 0072, phdal@hauniv.edu) for further information on the program and the application process. You can also arrange a time to speak with the Director of the Program and meet with current students.

Degree Programs Offered by Hellenic American University:

- Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature
- Bachelor of Science in Business Administration
- Bachelor of Science in Information Technology
- Bachelor of Science in Psychology
- Bachelor of Music
- Bachelor of Science in Business Administration
- Bachelor of Science in Engineering
- Bachelor of Science in Psychology
- Associate of Science in General Engineering
A Broad Perspective on Language

The program features eight core courses on topics such as Research Methodology, Discourse Analysis, Critical Applied Linguistics, Socio-Cultural Theory in Language Learning, and Communication across Cultures. Building on the common foundation of these courses, students can then specialize in areas such as Second Language Education, Discourse Analysis, Intercultural and Professional Communication, Research Methodology, Discourse Analysis, Critical Applied Linguistics, Sociocultural Theory in Language Learning, and Communication across Cultures.

The diversity of students’ professional backgrounds greatly contributes to a rich and engaging learning environment. Students who already work can continue doing so while being enrolled in this program. They are encouraged to draw upon their work experience to highlight issues of professional practice in their coursework, and conversely to apply insights newly gained in the PhD program to challenges they face in their work. Students’ work experience may include professional fields such as second language education, translation and interpreting, law, business, political science, diplomacy, linguistics, and other areas in which language and communication is of prime importance.

Over a part-time study period of four to five years, students complete eleven one- or two-week residencies in Athens for courses, on-site supervision and tutorial support, and complete seven project papers, two qualifying papers, and the supervised doctoral thesis. Admission requirements include a Master’s degree from a university of recognized standing in any of the fields mentioned above.

The Ph.D. in Applied Linguistics at Hellenic American University is an exciting, innovative program featuring intensive one- to two-week residential courses as well as extensive one-to-one online contact with the faculty.

Language Specialists in Leadership Positions

Graduates can reasonably expect to become leaders in any field that requires sophisticated language and communication specialists to address real-world communication challenges. Sophisticated communication specialists with deep knowledge of how language functions are increasingly in demand in nearly all professional fields. Graduates are equipped to compete successfully for key positions in universities, research institutes, businesses, national organizations, the diplomatic corps, NGOs, and global media. Applied Linguists at this level of expertise will look in particular for careers as high-ranking government officials, including diplomats, as policy advisors and consultants in educational agencies as corporate communication specialists and executive trainers; as editors and publishing consultants; as curriculum supervisors, evaluators, and assessors of language and communication competence, as senior academic staff in research centers; or as directors of translation and interpreting divisions in supranational organizations.

A Highly Flexible Program

The Ph.D. in Applied Linguistics at Hellenic American University is an exciting, innovative program featuring intensive one- to two-week residential courses as well as extensive one-to-one online contact with the faculty.

Applications

Hellenic American University welcomes applications from candidates from diverse academic and professional backgrounds.

If you are interested in applying for admission to the Ph.D. Program please contact the Program Coordinator of the Ph.D. program Dr. Themis Kanikioudou (+30 210 368 0072, phdal@hauniv.edu) for further information on the program and the application process. You can also arrange a time to speak with the Director of the Program and meet with current students.

Degree Programs Offered by Hellenic American University:

Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature
Bachelor of Science in Business Administration
Bachelor of Science in Engineering
Bachelor of Music
Bachelor of Science in Business Administration
Bachelor of Science in Engineering
Bachelor of Science in Psychology
Bachelor of Science in Information Technology
Bachelor of Science in Psychology
Bachelor of Science in Information Technology
Bachelor of Science in Psychology
Bachelor of Science in General Engineering

Applications
“Nowhere else in the world are so few students given the opportunity of studying and working with so many ‘stars’ in the field together in the same Ph.D. program in Applied Linguistics.”

DIRECTOR
JULIANE HOUSE

FACULTY
VIJAY BHATIA
JAN BLOMMAERT
FRANCESCA BARQUELA
GABRIELE KASPER
CLAIRE KRAMSch
DIANE LARSEN-PRESMAN
JEREMY MUNDAY
LOURDES ORTega
JIM PURPURA
ROSINA MARQUEZ REITER
PHILIP SCHOLFIELD
RUTh WODAk

Contact details:
Hellenic American University
52 Concord Street,
Manchester, NH 03101,
Tel: +1 603 645 1800,
E-mail: info@hauniv.edu
Web: www.hauniv.edu

Hellenic American College
22 Massalias Street, 10680 Athens,
Tel: +30 210 3680950,
Fax: +30 210 3680073,
E-mail: info@haec.gr
Web: www.haec.gr

Hellenic American University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, physical disability or veteran status in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic or other school-administered programs.
“Nowhere else in the world are so few students given the opportunity of studying and working with so many ‘stars’ in the field together in the same Ph.D. program in Applied Linguistics.”

DIRECTOR
JULIANE HOUSE

FACULTY
VILAY BHATIA
JAN BLOEMAERT
FRANCESCA BARDELA
GABRIELE KASPER
CLAIRE KRAMSCH
DIANE LARSEN-FREEMAN
JEREMY MUNDAY
LOURDES ORTEGA
JIM PURPURA
ROSINA MARQUEZ REITER
PHILIP SCHOFIELD
RUTH WODAK

Hellenic American University
52 Concord Street, Manchester, NH 03101, Tel: +1 603 645 1800,
E-mail: info@hau.edu
Web: www.hau.edu

Hellenic American College
22 Massalias Street, 10680 Athens,
Tel: +30 210 3680950,
Fax: +30 210 3680073,
E-mail: info@haec.gr
Web: www.haec.gr

Hellenic American University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion, physical disability or veteran status in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic or other school-administered programs.